Time and money-saving services like the BusinessCall SIP Account are essential components that form part of our solution. We also provide Managed Document Services, Managed Print Services, the digitising of documents, PBX and other VoIP solutions. To learn more about how we can save your business time and money, give us the opportunity to put you first. It's our brand promise to you.

Solution overview

BusinessCall SIP Account is a simple, pre-paid and cost effective way of routing calls via the internet to the Communications Network.

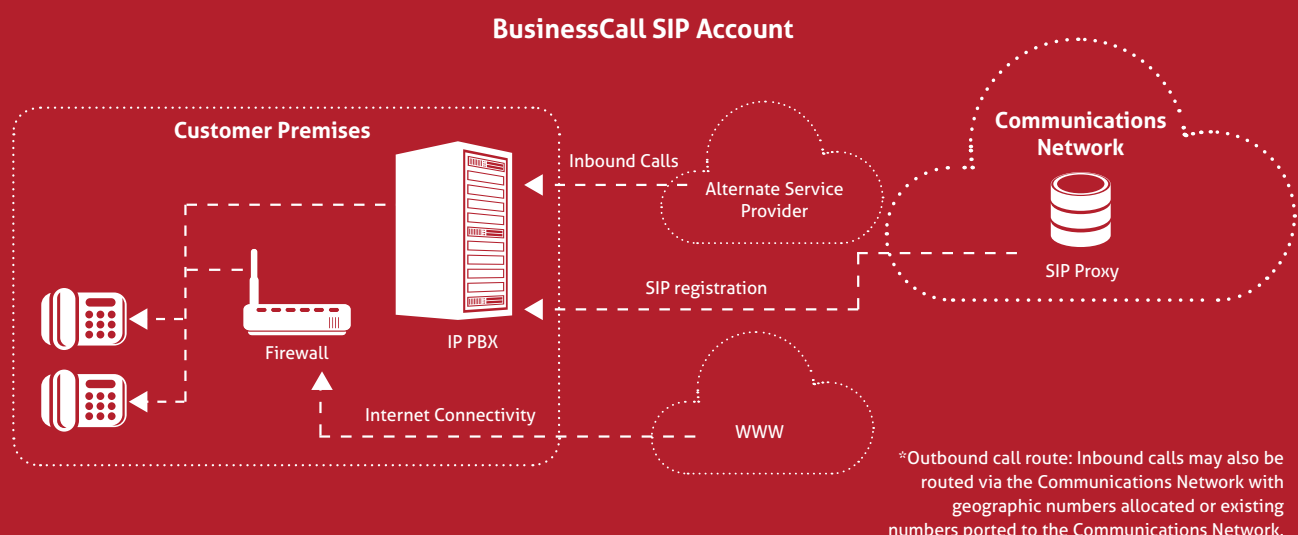

Clients need their own IP enabled PBX device and internet connectivity. Communications Network provides SIP Account details and registration information used on the client's IP PBX to terminate calls via Communications Network. Communications Network will allocate geographical numbers to the customer if required for inbound calls.

Clients deposit funds into their accounts, and all charges for calls, monthly fees and setups are deducted from this account. Pre-paid limits are monitored and notifications are sent to the client at various intervals advising them of the remaining funds in their account.
